Thiess Services secures $380m Alliance Program for South East Water Capital Works

Thiess Services, in conjunction with its 'us' – Utility Services Alliance partners, has secured a Capital Works Delivery Program for South East Water, worth $380 million over the next four years.

South East Water is a government-owned entity providing water and sewerage services to over 1.3 million customers in the south-east of Melbourne.

The new alliance program involves the overall management of capital works projects, including upgrades to water supply and sewerage networks.

The 'us' – Utility Service Alliance, which includes Thiess Services, Siemens and South East Water, has provided preventative maintenance, breakdown services, customer connections and parts of the capital works program for South East Water since 2005.

Thiess Services Executive General Manager Michael Wright said the expanded program of works is a testament to the quality of service delivery, innovation and depth of expertise of the 'us' – Utility Services Alliance, and provides further opportunities to assist South East Water optimise the value and service it delivers to its customers.

Thiess Services has a long term relationship with South East Water, which commenced in 1994 with the original contract for network maintenance. In 2004, following 10 years of continuing innovations, Thiess Services, in cooperation with Siemens, competitively bid for an alliance with South East Water that resulted in the formation of the 'us' – Utility Services Alliance.
